explore st.louis

Get into the action and join Explore St. Louis. We are looking for friendly ambassadors to help visitors best experience our hometown. Put your “insider” information to work and volunteer to be a part of a city-wide welcoming committee. You’ll be “in the know” about our top-notch attractions, cultural gems, sporting events and special activities that take place in St. Louis, and you’ll meet lots of new people from here and around the world!

Volunteer Opportunities

There are three different ways to be a part of St. Louis’ best welcoming committee. Our volunteers provide a warm welcome and personal service to help vacationers, convention delegates, and business travelers make the most of their St. Louis experience.

Visitor Information Centers

Join the team at one of Explore St. Louis’ five Visitor Information Centers. Our volunteers are knowledgeable about dining, sightseeing, shopping and the best ways to get around town. They provide all the “insider” information only a local would know! Two Visitor Centers are located downtown – at the America’s Center® convention complex, and at the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial; two at St. Louis Lambert International Airport in Terminals 1 and 2; and one in Forest Park at the Dennis and Judith Jones Visitor and Education Center.

Convention Volunteer Team

Our volunteers also have the opportunity to promote St. Louis during major conventions and tradeshow held at America’s Center. The Convention Volunteer Team (CVT) is a group of enthusiastic volunteers who help convention delegates explore the city and navigate through the convention complex. CVT’ers are called to action during approximately 30 major conventions and special events throughout the year.

Gateway Greeters

The Gateway Greeters, another group of friendly faces on the St. Louis hospitality team, make sure visitors receive a first class welcome when they arrive at St. Louis Lambert International Airport. The airport is often a traveler’s first exposure to St. Louis. It’s the perfect place to start their visit off right by sharing our friendly brand of Midwestern hospitality. Greeters help passengers find their way around the airport and our fine city.

Volunteer Benefits

In addition to interacting with visitors from around the world, Explore St. Louis volunteers enjoy a number of “perks” throughout the year, including:

- Special tours of area attractions
- Free parking or MetroLink passes
- Ongoing training programs
- Meet fellow residents who love St. Louis
- Attend the annual Volunteer Appreciation Luncheon
- The opportunity to spread the word about all the things to see and do in the St. Louis region

We need volunteers for all three of our fun-filled programs. We're looking for friendly, outgoing folks who are comfortable greeting visitors and approaching those who need help. Good communication skills and a positive attitude are a must! The Gateway Greeters and CVT positions involve walking and standing throughout the four-hour shift, while the Visitors Center positions are more sedentary. All we ask is that you commit to serving one shift per month.
